standardized chip, HSBC China is devoted to providing better security for HSBC China debit card holders. The cards would be issued from Nov 2017.

Debit card version 2.0 upgraded Normal cards to Advance cards in Oct 2014, with both brand new look and PBoC standard chip in technic as well. It enjoys the same privileges and functions as version 3.0, so that change or replace action is required for existing card holders.

Debit Card version 1.0 launched in Nov 2008, with magnetic stripe only, including Premier and Normal (Upgraded to Advance) cards, which is fading in the market. Chip cards are with better security in that card information stored therein cannot be easily stolen or duplicated.
